

SETPD Summit

July 20, 2009 • 9:00 AM - 4:00 PM

Special Education Teacher Professional Development

presented by California Department of Education
California Technical Assistance Center

This summit will examine the research base for each of the essential ingredients of special education reading instruction and provide rich examples to illustrate appropriate services, with emphasis on how to differentiate instruction in grade-level curriculum, while also providing intensive, individualized instruction.

Keynote Speaker:

Diane Haager, Ph.D.

California State University, Los Angeles

“Cooking with the Right Ingredients: Essential Components of Special Education Reading Instruction”

Special Focus Breakout Sessions

- Team Walk-through: Classroom Observations that Matter
- Improving Comprehension: Understanding the Research and Applying It in the Classroom
- Using Assessment to Make Informed Decisions
- Special Education/General Education Teacher Collaboration

Who Should Attend?

SETPD district leadership team, school, and teacher leaders and special education and general education teachers at all grade levels involved in SETPD

No Cost to Participants!

Summit materials, coffee, and boxed lunch provided

Summit will be held at the DHCS Auditorium,
1500 Capitol Avenue, Sacramento, CA 95814

Register at www.calread.net

California Department of Education

Reading First California
Technical Assistance Center